

NEW COURSE OFFERING

SPRING 2024 SEMESTER

WRIT/LBED 3000A

Writing in the Modern Research University

WRIT/LBED 3000 explores writing in the modern research university, with attention to disciplinary styles, knowledge translation and mobilization, and opportunities for decolonization and Indigenization. We will study scholarly style, learn techniques for effective positioning and persuasion, and develop audience awareness. Students will gain both knowledge of and skill in communication, applicable to university and beyond. If you are thinking about graduate studies or professional writing, or you simply want to improve your communication and writing skills, then this course is for you!

Prerequisites: Writing 1000 AND Liberal Education 1000
(contact Dr. Rebry at natasha.rebry@uleth.com to discuss)

Tuesday/Thursday: 1:30 - 2:45 pm

Classroom: AH175 CRN: #11661

Instructor: Dr. Rebry

A professional writer is an amateur who didn't quit.
Richard Bach
BrainyQuote

University of Lethbridge

